Growing up in Alaska, my interests primarily revolved around being in nature and enjoying wildlife. I had my first opportunity to get involved on the domestic side of animal welfare in 2014 when I moved to California and began volunteering at Rohnert Park Animal Services. This opportunity provided me a jumping off point from which I have continued to grow in my experience and passion for animal welfare.

After volunteering for two years, I was offered the opportunity to join Rohnert Park Animal Services as a staff member and got further involved with the organization as the Volunteer Coordinator and Lead Animal Shelter Assistant.

Five years later, I transitioned to the law enforcement side of animal welfare and was hired as an Animal Services Officer with Marin Humane in 2021. Not only has this position been an incredible next step in my career, but I am now fortunate enough to work with not only domestic animals but also with wildlife. My responsibilities include enforcing local and state laws concerning the care and control of wild and domestic animals throughout the county of Marin. I respond to animal-related calls, complaints, investigations, and other animal-related activities daily. Being able to serve the community and animals in this way is incredibly rewarding and I look forward to utilizing the knowledge being shared in this program in my current and future roles in animal welfare.
