

Jessica Castillo

Jessica comes from an extensive veterinary background. She started her animal health career in 2011 as veterinary receptionist, eventually working her way from reception to Veterinary Assistant Manager in 2022. She made the switch from animal health to animal welfare in 2022 and has been with Loving All Animals since.

Jessica's currently working as the Development Assistant at Loving All Animals, a non-profit animal shelter located in Coachella, Ca. In her current position, she coordinates fundraising events and activities, donor development, and program development. Her hopes are to further her career in animal welfare to continue to help the animals in her community and their owners.
