Hello! I have been working in and volunteering in animal shelters for about 15 years now. I began volunteering in 6th grade with Tranquility Trail Animal Sanctuary in Scottsdale, Arizona. I then worked closely with the education team as a volunteer at the Arizona Humane Society for around five years. I went to college for Psychology at the University of San Diego, and right after graduation, became an Animal Control dispatcher at the San Diego Humane Society. In my four years at the San Diego Humane Society, I have been promoted to the Supervisor of the Dispatch Department. I am extremely proud of our team and how advanced our department has come regarding Animal Control Dispatch, and I hope to continue spearheading advancement in the field. At home, I live with my boyfriend of 6 years and 3 beautiful kitties that I adopted, all from the shelter (who are the lights of my life). I love spending my free time traveling and doing "artsy" things such as theatre or painting.
