

Jodi Kroeger

My name is Jodi Kroeger. I'm a wife and a mother of an 11-year-old son. I have two shelter dogs and a bird too! My journey in the animal welfare industry began over 18 years ago as a Deputy Dog Warden/Animal Control Officer for Franklin County Animal Care and Control in Columbus Ohio. In 2011, I was promoted to Field Supervisor to lead the enforcement division. I enjoyed working in the field and learning about all aspects of a shelter as a supervisor.

After my family moved to California in 2019, I started as an Animal Control Officer for the City of San Bernardino Animal Services. I loved connecting with the community but was looking for a leadership role and accepted a position as the Animal Shelter Supervisor in 2021. I enjoyed working with my team and the residents; however, I was given the opportunity with the City of Redlands in 2022. In my current position as Animal Services Supervisor, I am providing leadership and guidance to a growing organization. I am excited for my future and the future opportunities of the animal welfare industry.
