

Makenna Whitney

Makenna has over ten years of working with 501c3 non-profit organizations throughout Sacramento, CA. In 2018, Makenna held a successful career in the human healthcare system, developing community outreach and education programs for organ, eye, and tissue donation. In 2021, Makenna made the life switch to pursue her dream of obtaining her RVT license and working full-time in animal welfare. During the recent pandemic, Makenna volunteered as Executive Director for Itsie Bitsie Rescue, a Sacramento non-profit focusing on rescuing abandoned newborn kittens and puppies. Currently, Makenna is Medical Clinic Manager at FieldHaven Feline Center in Lincoln, California.

Makenna has obtained her Emergency Medical Technician license and a Bachelor of Science in Family and Consumer Sciences through California State University, Sacramento.

When not rescuing animals, you can find Makenna backpacking through the El Dorado Forest with her husband and dog, Moose, or playing tennis.
