

Cara Gavers

Cara is currently the Support Services Project Coordinator for San Diego Humane Society (SDHS). She has been with SDHS for 6.5 years starting in animal care and moving through the organization in Behavior and Training and Foster Specialist roles. Cara became interested in the field of animal welfare in 2013 when she started a Masters in Wildlife Conservation. After learning how many unique “jobs” there are for domestic dogs (anti-poaching/tracking, scat detection, livestock guarding, etc.), Cara decided to switch careers to work more locally. At home Cara enjoys spending time with her 3-legged kitty, Casper, going on hikes, and playing board games with friends!
