I currently work for the Sacramento SPCA as the Assistant Clinic Manager. I have been working in animal shelters in a variety of roles for nine years. I have enjoyed being able to learn new things and continually grow my skills and knowledge. While I do really enjoy helping animals, I also love helping the people who care for them. In my current role, I am able to help clients, and their pets get access to low-cost spay and neuter, low-cost vaccines, and much needed veterinary care for their pet.

In my free time, I love to hike, camp, and garden. I currently have a dog, two cats, two birds, and rabbit who were all adopted from my current shelter. We also are frequent hosts to foster animals who need a little bit of help before they are ready for adoption.
